Incas and Cusco. Wander through ethereal Machu Picchu set atop misty Andean peaks. Inca walls,intelligent masonry and the stonework of this ancient city illustrate the architectural skills of the Incas, who had no metals, were illiterate and used no written language. From the terraces of Machu Picchu, take in views of the snow-capped peaks of the Andes and Valley of the Inca, including Huayna Picchu and Huascarán. A little over a mile below, you’ll find yourself in the charming town of Aguas Calientes.

A World Apart

The spirit of travel emerges from a simple thought and a compulsion to explore the unknown. Early explorers, however, were not always at ease in unfamiliar places, far from home. They often found themselves on the outer fringes of their communities, estranged from their loved ones and the customs and conventions that defined their daily lives.

We have all felt that we are living in the “world,” but there is a world apart from this one—a world of different cultures, languages, and beliefs. This is the world of the traveler, who ventures beyond the familiar to seek new experiences and challenges. The traveler is a person who seeks out new horizons, who dares to experience the unfamiliar, who is willing to risk the unknown.

In a world that is becoming increasingly interconnected, it is easier than ever to travel to distant lands. We can now visit places that were once the stuff of legends, where cultures and traditions have remained unchanged for centuries. The world of the traveler is a place where you can immerse yourself in the culture and history of a different time and place, where you can experience the beauty and wonder of a world that is at once familiar and foreign.

The story of travel involves more than a ticket and a passport. It involves the people you meet and the experiences you have. It involves the memories you will carry with you for the rest of your life. It involves the world apart from your own, a world that is waiting to be explored.

The magic of travel is that it allows us to experience new things and to learn from others. It allows us to expand our horizons and to enrich our lives. It allows us to see the world in a new light. It allows us to appreciate the diversity of human experience.

As you travel, you will encounter different cultures, languages, and beliefs. You will meet new people and hear new stories. You will see new sights and taste new foods. You will experience new things and learn new things.

The world of the traveler is a world of discovery. It is a world of adventure. It is a world of wonder. It is a world of possibilities. It is a world apart from your own, a world that is waiting to be explored.

Dear Arizona Alumni and Friends,

We’re excited to offer you the chance to experience Peru like never before with AHI Travel. This destination is teeming with incredible sites and a rich history that is waiting to be explored.

From the towering city of Cusco to the mesmerizing Incan city of Machu Picchu, you’ll be able to experience the best of Peru. In addition, you’ll receive preferred access to popular attractions and an exclusive educational program to enhance your appreciation of Peru’s heritage.

With AHI you can rely on:
• Experienced Travel Directors who understand your needs
• An exceptional travel value.
• Unique access to local sites.
• Flexibility and assistance from this specialist, your one point of contact who will help you with everything from arranging flights to booking elective activities to fulfilling special requests.

Your one-of-a-kind journey will start with flying from Miami to Lima on August 13th. Upon arrival, you’ll be greeted by your AHI Travel representative and taken to your accommodations, the luxurious, open-air deck 170-foot ship, which offers luxurious, elegant accommodations.
