Dear Arizona Alumni and Friends,

For three decades, Stephen Ambrose and Gordon H. “Nick” Mueller, President and CEO Emeritus of The National WWII Museum, were colleagues in the Department of History at the University of New Orleans — and best friends. During those years they undertook many adventures, including the first overseas tour Ambrose led — a 1980 journey from the Normandy D-Day beaches to the Rhine River. They fell in love with helping others experience this epic story and wanted to go back as often as they could.

Ambrose and Mueller ran tours almost every other year for some 20 years, including one in 1994 commemorating the 50th anniversary of D-Day. It was during those years, as Mueller served as a Dean and Vice Chancellor at UNO, that he and Ambrose established the Eisenhower Center for American Studies, which facilitated the collection of more than 600 oral histories from D-Day veterans. This included interviews and other research materials provided by surviving members of the famed Easy Company.

Beginning in 1990, Normandy tours were planned around the wartime route of the “Band of Brothers,” from the drop zones around Sainte-Mère-Église all the way to Hitler’s Eagle’s Nest in the Bavarian Alps.

Ambrose’s research and interviews led to the best-selling book and HBO miniseries Band of Brothers. When he learned that Easy Company veterans were in New Orleans for a reunion, he went to their hotel and introduced himself, saying he was there to help preserve and share their stories. Subsequently, Dick Winters and other Easy Company members were frequent participants in the Museum’s tours and symposia.

Personal and professional friendships brought together the stories of these soldiers at The National WWII Museum — in the oral history collection and in the exhibits. Holding exclusive rights to this collection, the Museum is proud to feature many Easy Company interviews during this remarkable journey.

UA Alumni Travel is pleased to offer Easy Company: England to the Eagle’s Nest, a tour built on the experiences of two friends whose goal was to bring to life the experiences of the Greatest Generation. There is simply no better way to learn about and honor those courageous Americans known as the “Band of Brothers.”

Sincerely,

Lisa Valentine

PARTNERS IN EDUCATIONAL TRAVEL

A partnership with The National WWII Museum offers a truly exclusive, memorable, and personalized travel experience for your travelers.

The National WWII Museum tells the story of the American experience in the war that changed the world—why it was fought, how it was won, and what it means today—so that all generations will understand the price of freedom and be inspired by what they learn.

The Museum opened on June 6, 2000, as The National D-Day Museum. In 2004, the Museum was designated by Congress as “America’s National World War II Museum” with the mandate that the Museum expand its mission to tell the complete story of the American Experience in World War II. Less than one year later, the Museum launched its first Victory in Europe tour, from London to Normandy, Belgium, Luxembourg, and all the way to the Eagle’s Nest in Germany. Since then, the Museum has collaborated with some of the most respected authors and WWII experts in the world, along with its own curators and staff historians, to ensure the educational content of every itinerary. Tour destinations include battlefields and strategic sites across Europe and the Pacific, including the beaches of Normandy, Saipan and Iwo Jima; Churchill’s War Rooms in London; Hitler’s Eagle’s Nest in Germany; the meeting point of eastern and western allies on the Elbe; and one of the only battlefields on American soil, Pearl Harbor.

Through partnerships with the foremost experts in WWII history, we provide you with exemplary programming, world-class expertise, and the finest accommodations.

“I have hosted more than 10 trips for our alumni association and this was one of the most enjoyable and memorable I have experienced. The accommodations and itinerary were top-notch and the Museum’s network provided us with some special experiences to which others might not have access.”

- Kathryn G, Houston, TX

“I have been on dozens of military history tours...and Corinne and Stephane [the Museum guides] measured up with the best. They were well prepared and patient.”

– Richard C., Potomac, MD

“There was excellent overall value in this tour. The educational information we received would have been very difficult to obtain during six days had we attempted to tour the various sites on a self-guided tour.”

- James H., Farmington Hills, MI

“Breakfasts provided at hotels were excellent. Very good choice of restaurants during tour; enjoyed ambiance and food.”

- Jenny P., NY

“Great value for the money. I learned much more than I expected and returned with greater appreciation and understanding of both the small and big pictures.”

– John T., Houston, TX
Richard “Dick” Winters began his association with the 101st Airborne Division’s 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment as a platoon leader in Easy Company. By war’s end, he commanded the 506th’s Second Battalion, which included his old company. Although the attrition of war played a part in Winters’ rapid advance through the ranks, it was his superb leadership and ability to complete tough assignments that endeared him to the men under his command. The men of Easy Company who survived the war attribute their survival to many things, and the leadership of Dick Winters is always near the top of the list.

On our Easy Company: England to the Eagle’s Nest tour we will visit sites that Winters and his men made legendary, including: Brécourt Manor where they knocked out a battery of German 105’s on D-Day; the “Crossroads” in the Netherlands where they took on a force many times their size; Foy, on the outskirts of Bastogne, where they endured hell from both the Germans and Mother Nature; the site of the “Last Patrol” in Haguenau; the remains of the concentration camp at Landsberg; and finally, the Eagle’s Nest, where the men of Easy Company enjoyed Hitler’s home and Göring’s wines.

MATTHEW LEITCH, ACTOR, BAND OF BROTHERS

An English actor who grew up and attended school close to the English town of Selby, Yorkshire, Matthew Leitch comes from a military family. Leitch’s father was a paratrooper in the British Army before leaving the military to become a medic.

After attending drama school, Leitch landed the lead role on the Nickelodeon show Redford Rejects, in which he played a star soccer player who breaks his leg and ends up coaching a team of ... well, "rejects." Leitch graduated to movies and starred in the HBO award-winning film A.K.A., catching the eye of the Band of Brothers casting team. He auditioned to play several characters, and eventually landed the role of First Sergeant Floyd Talbert, Dick Winters’ guardian angel.

Diverse roles in movies followed his Band of Brothers appearance, including The Detonator, opposite Wesley Snipes; The Dark Knight, and Strike Back. Leitch also returned to Nickelodeon programming in Genie in the House and Which Is Witch. He recently completed the new movie Country of Hotels.

Leitch’s hometown of Selby is coincidentally twinned with Carentan in Normandy -- an association that works to promote friendship between the people of the two cities with group visits and joint events. In his personal life, Matthew paid homage to Sergeant Talbert when he named his own son Floyd.

FROM THE MUSEUM’S COLLECTION

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE

EISENHOWER’S COMMAND FOR D-DAY

As the Supreme Commander of the Allies, it was up to “Ike,” Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, to make the final decision as to whether to launch the invasion of Normandy on June 5th. Due to less-than-favorable weather reports, there was serious concern amongst many within the Allied high command that casualties would be extremely high. This was especially the case for the Allied airborne forces. Air Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory, who was in charge of the planes that would deliver the paratroopers to their drop zones, feared that the casualty rate for these elite troops could be as high as 75%.

Ike made the decision to postpone the landings by one day, pushing D-Day back to June 6, 1944. As he gathered his team the next night for a final war council, he polled his commanders again, and again Leigh-Mallory stressed his concern of the weather conditions and the well-being of the airborne forces. Despite these warnings, Eisenhower knew that the invasion couldn’t be postponed indefinitely, so he made the tough decision with words, “OK, let’s go.”

After lunch in the area, take a driving tour of Sainte-Marie-du-Mont, before heading to Marmion Farm. End the day’s touring with a visit to the Utah Beach area for a tour of the landing sites and a visit to the Utah Beach Museum. Return to the hotel for dinner with the group this evening.

DAY 4: NORMANDY, FRANCE

October 2: Today begins with a visit to the historic Château de Bernaville, where a little-known event involving US paratroopers factored heavily into the Allies’ D-Day success. The château was the headquarters of German General Wilhelm Falley who was visited by Rommel just prior to D-Day, and killed here by American paratroopers at 4:00 a.m. on D-Day. Next, travel to Beuzeville-au-Plain to view the monument to Lt. Thomas Meehan’s downed C-47, and hear his story. After an included lunch, learn the story of Easy Company at the important town of Carentan, which linked the Utah and Omaha Beach forces. After a stop at the Dead Man’s Corner Museum and a visit to the church at Angoville au Plain, the day ends with free time to explore Bayeux and dine at one of Bayeux’s many wonderful restaurants.

Accommodations: Manoir de Mathan (B, L)

DAY 5: NORMANDY, FRANCE

October 3: On the group’s final day in Normandy, touring is devoted to the ground troops who came ashore in the Omaha Beach area. Head out to a morning visit to tour Pointe du Hoc where the Army Rangers faced tough odds coming ashore before scaling the imposing 100-foot cliff. Visits along Omaha Beach take place prior to an included group lunch. The afternoon is devoted to the Normandy American Cemetery, where more than 9,000 Americans are laid to rest in the ground they helped liberate. Guests will be given time to reflect and remember the sacrifices that happened here. A special Farewell to Normandy dinner will be held this evening.

Visiting Easy Company’s drop zone and following its path of liberation, guests will see where Dick Winters led the attack at “The Crossroads,” the subject of Episode 5 of Band of Brothers, and where members of the Company helped rescue more than 100 British airborne troops who were stuck behind enemy lines across the Rhine in Operation PEGASUS. The touring day ends at Arnhem and the “Bridge Too Far” before the drive back to Eindhoven where guests will enjoy dinner and an evening at leisure.

The group travels on to the medieval market town of Clervaux, Luxembourg, in the heart of the Ardennes. Along the way, the tour historian presents an overview of the Battle of the Bulge—Hitler's last-ditch effort to defeat the Allies in the west, and the largest land battle fought by the U.S. Army in World War II.
